

workplace chaplaincy

Could you meet and get to know people in their workplace—office, factory, shop, hotel or station?

Could you talk to everyone from the most senior to the newest recruit?

Can you chat with people about ordinary things but be willing to respond if questions go deeper?

Do you have some time to offer as a volunteer?

Could you, with your church, support this work in prayer?

If the answer is “Yes!” you might think about becoming a workplace chaplain

The Churches and Industry Group Birmingham has chaplaincies in the motor industry, the public and voluntary sectors, airport, retail industry, NEC, Fire Service and others.

We provide free training and continuing support.
